Union Investment lets approx. 6,500 sq m in Corporate Village office ensemble in Brussels

Union Investment has agreed three leases covering some 6,500 sq m in the Corporate Village office ensemble at Brussels Zaventem airport. Sony, the long-standing anchor tenant in the Davos building, which comprises approximately 12,667 sq m of office space, extended the existing lease on its 4,050 sq m for three years. The property has been held by open-ended real estate fund Unilmmo: Europa since 2002. Two new tenants were acquired for the Gent building: textile company DB Apparel and the recyclable corrugated packaging provider DS Smith. The leases for 730 sq m and 1,668 sq m respectively run until 2024. Consisting of 7,200 sq m of office space, the Gent building has been part of the portfolio of open-ended real estate fund UniInstitutional European Real Estate since 2006.

Corporate Village comprises seven office buildings named after places linked with famous artists. Six of the buildings with a total of around 72,600 sq m of space belong to the Union Investment portfolio. Corporate Village also includes a four-star hotel, a service centre and a 30,000 sq m public park. For more information visit www.corporate-village.com.
